Physical Fitness Is Goal

The school superintendent is telling people, with some pride, that they should take a look at what the physical educational department is up to -- elementary school testing, shaping up physical fitness models, and a kindergarten through graduation curriculum, and helping kids with deficiencies, in physical fitness.

The Curious Citizen wonders what it is they are testing. What is a physical fitness model -- is it made of cardboard? Since when does physical education have a continuous curriculum, like math and English? The five-year goals ring a bell, though, as they were announced last spring, and are part of the school administration's 1970-1980 educational masterplan.

One of the five-year goals announced by the Andover school administration is to have all Andover pupils aware of a physical fitness model for their age-level, and be working to attain or maintain that model themselves. Chief implementer of this physical fitness goal is Donald D. Dunn, athletic and physical education director for the schools.

HIGH SCHOOL APPROVED. William A. Doherty, school committeeman for over 35 years in Andover, sits with his former colleagues as he hears that approval has been given for an addition to the former Central school, now named in his honor. Action took place at Monday's town meeting which, by voice vote approved $80,000 for working drawings for the addition. Town meeting in March will be asked to appropriate funds for construction. Next to Doherty is Asst. Supt. of Schools Vaughn I. Clapp, Committeeman Frank Hill and Supt. of Schools Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert.

Anniversary

This week the TOWNSMAN begins another year of publication and service to the community.

With this issue we begin our 84th year.

Since our foundation in October, 1887, we have kept abreast of ever-changing times and a growing, changing community.

If one were to sit down and skim the pages printed during the past 83 years, it would seem that while we have problems today, so did Andover over its many years of historical significance.

Its men and women consistently answered the call of their country when needed.

Its people were always alert to rise to the needs of the community, whether it be hardship, meeting municipal problems, debating necessities at town meeting whether it be installation of foot bridge over a river, as in years ago, for about $25, to appropriating millions for new schools as is the case today.

Andover has been an education-oriented community.

Above all, Andover has proven to be a gracious, pleasant New England town.

As we begin our 84th year, we would like to express our appreciation for being able to have been a part of the town and look forward to continued service to this, "straight-forward, sober, patriotic New England town," as Phillips Brooks so aptly put it many years ago.

School Plans Are Approved

Voters Monday night appropriated $80,000 to provide working drawings for a 12-room addition to the Doherty elementary school, during an almost four hour town meeting.

The school issue passed quickly and with little debate, while the other article, particularly those dealing with tax title lots in the Lowell Junction industrial area. Among the features of the meeting was an almost article by article trip from the rear of the hall to the microphone near the stage by former Town Manager Richard J. Bowen.

Bowen was sponsor of three articles and a debator on many others.

Action on the 22-article warrant involved about $160,000 in all, equivalent to $1 of the tax rate.

The school issue passed with ease. It was presented by James J. St. Germain, chairman of the building committee and Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools. They explained the plans for the new school and also the need for the additional classroom space.

When a vote was called for there was a resounding vote of approval.

Atty. Irving Newman, however, wished to speak and was allowed to by Moderator Arthur Williams. Newman called the plans for the school short-sighted and not economical.

His plea had little response and the article passed with ease.

Occupying most of the time during the meeting were the controversial tax title lots articles, which, despite action, remain in a state of limbo, since the legality of the property remains in question.

The acreage lies between the Gillette and Reichhold companies in Lowell Junction. The property has been held by the selectmen, while some feel the land should be placed in the hands of the conservation commission.

Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien informed the meeting that under statute, the land had not been acquired for a specific purpose and action by the meeting would be doubtful.

Further legal study would be necessary, he said, and possibly he would not even have an answer for the March town meeting.

Bomb Scares Plaguing High School

Andover High school students have been spending considerable time outside early this week.

Three bomb scares have been telephoned into the school, two on Tuesday and one on Wednesday. On each occasion the building has been evacuated and the fire department conducted a search.

The threats were telephoned into the high school by what sounded like youthful voices.

Following the scare on Tuesday, Principal Philip F. Wormwood addressed the entire student body, advising them of the danger of such calls and the penalties severe.

He warned that measures would have to be taken to make up the lost time in classes.

Asked if this meant Saturday classes, Wormwood replied there is a distinct possibility.

To add to matters on Tuesday, the day began with a fire drill, thus the students and faculty found themselves outside three times during the day.

Fuel Oil For Schools Seems Sufficient

While many school systems throughout the state are concerned about oil supplied this winter, Andover has been reassured by its supplier that there will be no problem.

The oil shortage in the northeast which has homeowners, industry and suppliers concerned, is becoming an increasing worry as winter months approach.

Jack Berberian, supervisor of general services for the school department, said this week, that the town has been reassured that the contractor will be able to supply the needs of the town's public schools.

Fay and Driscoll of Lawrence was the low bidder and is the contractor for the town to supply from 12,000 to 14,000 barrels of number five oil to the various buildings.

Berberian said he had talked with the contractor last week, who informed him that the contract demands would be met. The contractor had discussed the matter with his supplier and had been assured the amount of fuel oil for which he had already contracted would be available to him.

Many school systems are facing a crisis situation if the supply of oil dwindles and is not available. Curtailment of classes is threatened in many communities, should the overall supply become a problem.

Yom Kippur Services Scheduled

Temple Emanuel of Merrimack Valley, 101 West Forest St., Lowell, begins Yom Kippur services with Kol Nidre prayers at 8 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 9. Rabbi S. Daniel Breslauer will deliver the sermon entitled, "The Scattered Flock: Reform Judaism and World Jewry."

Services for the day of Yom Kippur begin at 10:30 a.m. on Oct. 10, with children's services at 12 noon. Rabbi Breslauer's sermon will be "The Heart Must Yearn: Reform Judaism and Prayer." In the afternoon at 2 p.m. Rabbi Breslauer will lead a discussion group on topics of theological and general interest. The afternoon service begins at 3 p.m. with Yizkor, Memorial prayers, being said at 4:30 p.m. Members of the general community are welcome to all services.

In a joyous revitalization of the old injunction "Laishav Basukkah," "to dwell in booths," a Sukkot dinner will be held on Wednesday evening, Oct. 14 at 6:15 p.m.

In the spirit of grateful thanksgiving which characterizes the holiday of Sukkot, beginning that evening, the food will be provided by members of the congregation. Temple Emanuel, affiliated with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, devotes itself to such projects as this which infuse modern meaning into an ancient heritage. Friday evening Rabbi Breslauer will preach on the subject, "A Time to Refrain..." in connection with the celebration of Sukkot. Services begin at 8 p.m. and are open to all who wish to attend.

SCHOOL LUNCH MENU

Next week is National School Lunch Week, across the nation. The theme will be: always the children first! The cafeteria department of the Andover schools invites town officials to come and have lunch with the children on Wednesday, when schools across the nation will serve the same menu, a popular favorite.

Monday - No school, Columbus Day.

Tuesday - Country style vegetable soup, tuna salad roll, potato chips, sliced pickles, chilled fruit and milk.

Wednesday - School Lunch Day: Batter fried chicken, cranberry sauce, homemade buttered biscuits, green peas, crisp cole slaw, oatmeal raisin cookie and milk.

Thursday - High and junior high: Apple juice, Italian meatball sandwich, tossed green salad, jello cubes and milk. Elementary: Apple juice, Spanish rice, buttered green beans, bread and butter, jello cubes and milk.

Friday - Fruit punch, fish in batter, honey glazed carrots, buttered dinner roll, yummy cake and milk.

Coffee Hours Introduce School Plan

The Shawsheen Elementary School has begun a program of "coffee hours" designed to familiarize the parents of the Shawsheen pupils with the teachers, administrators and total school program.

Shawsheen Principal Anthony Frulla described the coffee hours as informal but informative to both educators and parents. The meetings are held in the faculty room of the school with parents invited to attend. The program was begun with kindergarten parents and a coffee hour has been planned in the near future for parents of pupils at every level. Members of the Shawsheen School P.T.O. are cooperating by serving coffee and pastries.

The main goal of the coffee hour program is to have parents and educators sit in small groups of three or four and discuss education in Andover, especially at the Shawsheen Elementary school. Guests who participated in the small group discussions have been Dr. K. Seifert, Superintendent of Schools, Mr. V. Clapp, Assistant Superintendent and Mr. W. Igoo, Director of Guidance for the Andover School system.

Mr. Frulla believes that for a school program to be effective pupils, parents and educators must each be aware of the educational goals and objectives of the system and individual student. The coffee hours should be an effective means of reducing the traditional home-school communications barriers which have rendered educational systems less than 100% effective.

Management To Be Topic Of Discussion

The North Shore Chapter of The American Production and Inventory Control Society will meet on Tuesday evening, Oct. 13, at Kings Grant Motel in Danvers (Rt. 128). "The Human Side of Management" will be the title of a presentation to be given by Daniel R. Lalumiere, President of D. R. Lalumiere Associates.

APICS is a national organization dedicated to the development of professional efficiency in production and inventory management through study, research, and application of scientific methods. The North Shore Chapter welcomes those interested professionals and invites companies involved in inventory management, distribution, production or related areas to send representatives.

Dinner will be served at 6:45 p.m. Further information and reservations can be obtained by calling Jerry Bellucci at The Gillette Toiletries Division, 30 Burt Road.

Garden Club Extravaganza Nov. 12, 13

The Andover Garden Club will present a "Holiday Extravaganza" at the Andover Country Club, Nov. 12 and 13 for the benefit of the beautification of Andover. Featured will be "Vignettes" and a "Boutique."

General chairman and president of the Andover Garden Club, Mrs. David J. Fox, announced tickets are now available for the "Chamagne Preview" of the "Vignettes" and "Boutique" along with dancing to the music of the John Charles orchestra planned for Thursday evening, Nov. 12 from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Friday, Nov. 13, viewing of the "Vignettes" and "Boutique" from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with refreshments served throughout the day. Both days are open to the public and tickets may be purchased from club members, or at the door.

The "Vignettes" will be room settings elegantly decorated for the holiday season. Specially designed staging will transform the interior of the Andover Country Club into the warm atmosphere of a home made ready for holiday entertaining. An entrance door, living room, dining room and family room will be set up and decorated for the Christmas season.

The "Boutique" will be filled with various decorative swags, wreaths, and articles designed expressly for the season and created in the many workshops held throughout the summer months by club members.

Named Notary

Thomas Jay Thomas, 54 William St., has been appointed as a Notary Public, the office of Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren has announced. Confirmation of the new appointment was made here at a meeting of the Executive Council, following submission of the nomination by the governor.

The term of the Andover Notary Public will expire in 1977.

Attend Seminar

Members of the Greater Lawrence Unit of the American Cancer Society attended a statewide education seminar for unit and branch members of the Massachusetts Division Wednesday in Auburn.

Joseph Miett, president of the unit, lead the contingent which attended workshops in each of their specialties: John W. Connors, public information; John B. Melvin, service; and Bernard J. O'Brien, public education.

Over 125 delegates from all parts of the Commonwealth took part in the Symposium. Stanley Shmishkiss of Lynn, chairman of the Field Services Committee, presided. Dr. Arthur I. Holleb, senior vice president for Medical Affairs for the National Society, was the principal speaker.

The Greater Lawrence Unit includes Lawrence, Methuen, Andover and North Andover.

AWARD WINNERS — Among the 214 trophies distributed at the Senior Little League Banquet were those to the above five people. Left to right: Mike Sweetser, manager of the Senior League Champion Indians and the Senior League All-Star team; Dave Sweetser, member of both the champion Indians and All-Stars; Mark Sweetser, member of both the champion Indians and All-Stars; Chucky Barr, winner of "Attitude and Sportsmanship" trophy and member of champion Indians and All-Stars; and Chuck Barr, coach of Indians and All-Stars.

Little League Awards Presented

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Senior Little League recently hosted its second annual Awards Banquet at the Greater-Lawrence Regional High School in West Andover, and proof of the success and popularity the event has achieved were the 376 people in attendance.

The banquet honors the Senior Little League players, all 1970 Little League champions and the 1970 Andover Little League All-Star Tournament teams which competed in the International Little League tourney this year.

This is the first year the event has encompassed the entire Little League community in Andover, and a whopping total of 214 individual trophies were awarded during the evening.

In addition to the buffet-style dinner and presentation of the many trophies, an added feature was an informal talk delivered by well-known speaker Hal Goodnough.

Goodnough, contacted through Major League scout Jeff Jones who resides in Andover, is a former Atlanta Braves promotional director (when the club was in Milwaukee) and "goodwill ambassador" for the 1969 World Champion New York Mets.

Also among Goodnough's impressive credentials is the fact that he has been a featured speaker at the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa. on three separate occasions.

Hal has given over 4000 talks, spoken in 48 states and travelled more than 500,000 miles throughout the nation and Canada in the past 17 years.

His topic was "Baseball -- Truly the Story of America," and the half-hour speech was well received by the boys and their parents.

One of the major highlights of the awards ceremony was the presentation of the "Attitude and Sportsmanship" trophies by each of the Senior League Managers. The award went to the boys who, as the name implies, displayed the best attitude of sportsmanship throughout the season.

For the Senior League champion Indians, Manager Mike Sweetser presented the trophy to Chuck Barr. Manager Charlie Wiggs of the runner-up Cubs presented that team's award to his son, Charlie Wiggs.

The winner for Manager Paul McVey's first-year Red Sox was Johnny Christopher, while Scott Inman was the recipient for Manager Bob Driscoll's Mets, Brian Young was the winner for Manager Al Pelletier's Dodgers and Jay Pennick copped the trophy for Manager Bill Moore's Senators.

Players from all of the following teams also received trophies: The Senior League Champion Indians, the Senior League Runner-up Cubs, the American Major League Champion Red Sox, the National Major League and Town Champion Cardinals and the American Minor League and Town Champion Senators.

Also, the American Minor League Runner-up Athletics, the National Minor League Champion Braves, the National Minor League Runner-up Giants, the Senior Little League All-Star Tournament team, and the American and National Major League All-Star Tournament clubs.

Some of the winning managers who made presentations were Mike Sweetser (Indians and Senior All-Stars), Charlie Wiggs (Cubs), Dick Neal (Major League Cardinals and National All-Stars), Frank Monette (Major League Red Sox and American All-Stars) and Jim Morin (Minor League Athletics).

There were a number of highlights and outstanding individual performances during the past season. Pitchers who continually "stole the show" during the season included Dave Rice of the Senior Indians, Charlie Wiggs of the Senior Cubs, Glenn Verrette of the American Major Twins and Tom Duffy and Steve Galvin of the National Major Cards.

Rice, Duffy and Galvin went through the regular season and playoffs without losing. They consistently turned in low-hit efforts. Wiggs had a fine record and consistently fanned more than 10 batters a game.

Verrette, although not on a championship club, turned in perhaps the top all-around performance for the year. Pitching in

Task Force Makes Plans

The Retail Task Force of the Andover Chamber of Commerce met last Thursday night to plan promotional activities for the year and set store hours for Christmas shoppers.

William Doyle, president of the chamber, addressed the group and told the group that it must become an integral part of the chamber in order to promote Andover.

Doyle traced the history of the Andover Chamber and the progress made in the years of its existence. He said that it was a duty of the chamber to promote Andover, create an image for the community and that the task force must be an important part of that effort.

In conclusion, he expressed appreciation for the work performed by the several committees, including the task force, to make the chamber's program a success.

Raymond B. DeRuisseau, advertising and business manager of the TOWNSMAN, new chairman of the task force, explained the plans for the coming year.

Activity includes the downtown promotional activity which will begin with Harvest Fall Needs event next week.

George Heseltine, chairman of the Christmas Lighting committee explained the new and improved lighting program for the holiday season. More lights will be displayed this year and it is also planned to light the large tree in Shawsheen.

The group voted to open stores for Christmas shoppers nightly beginning Dec. 7. From that date through Dec. 23, all member stores will be open until 9 p.m. Normal store hours 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. will be on Dec. 24.

Munro Leaf
Convalescing

Author Munro Leaf, Andover resident for a number of years, is a patient at Phillips House, Massachusetts General Hospital, where he is recovering from surgery.

The Leafs still own their Salem Street home in Andover, but have been living the past several years in Washington, D.C. Here Leaf combines his writing work for several government agencies and the World Population Council with the cultural exchange trips abroad which Mr. and Mrs. Leaf make under the auspices of the State Department.

Leaf is the author of "Ferdinand the Bull", the children's classic now translated into dozens of foreign languages, a number of children's books describing how everything from manners to arithmetic can be fun, and several short books for adults and children, such as one which nutshells the organization and workings of the United Nations. Andover children occasionally have figured in Leaf's published writings.

Leaf will be convalescing at the Boston Hospital for another week or two.

Guild To Meet

The Friendly Guild of Christ Church will meet on Monday, Oct. 12 at 7:45 p.m. in the parish house.

A work night is scheduled. Members are asked to bring paper to wrap gifts for St. Monica's Home. Any colored or bright foil paper may be used.

Jeannette Mooney, Marion Lally and Jessie Wescott are in charge of refreshments.

Less than a century ago, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, and the Dakotas had 10 million acres of duck-producing wetlands (marshes, sloughs and potholes). Today, draining for agricultural land and modern farming techniques have reduced the duck-producing area to 4 million acres, the Massachusetts Audubon Society points out.

Children
Plan For UNICEF Day

Scores of Andover children will be participating in the international "Trick or Treat on Unicef Day" this Halloween. The town's little ones will be involved in raising funds for their needy brothers around the world. By offering a means of direct involvement in helping those less fortunate, the unique project gives new meaning to Halloween -- a day already very special to all children.

The Andover phase of the Unicef program is being coordinated by Mrs. Dennis E. Burke of 6 Dale St. Mrs. Burke calls this area's response, "very encouraging for this early date."

Further information on how children may participate or how to obtain an official Unicef collection carton may be had by contacting Mrs. Burke.

School Programs Examined

Summertime learning came first on the school committee agenda last week, and there were full reports from the regular and experimental programs of the secondary and elementary summer schools, plus two federally funded programs for selected groups of children. Committee consensus on the past summer's programs: summer school is not for "more of the same," but for innovations, trying out new methods which may benefit the regular program as well as the summer school students and teachers.

Year round learning came at the end, when Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert presented his hefty report on the Year Round School, in response to suggestions of interested committee members and the editorial columns of the Andover Townsman. Committee discussion began, from the educational view and from vantage point of the back right pocket of the taxpayer. Perhaps to their surprise, Seifert told the schoolmen that any major year-round plan would mean a budget increase, as well as probable educational gains. Committee member Frank Hill agreed, pointing out that the biggest annual cost is not buildings, but staff salaries. Any cost benefits would be very long range.

Agreement was unanimous that a lot of study must precede any decisions, and Seifert's problem was in trying to find out how much in the way of research-hours the committee wanted his staff to spend, exploring which alternatives.

Year Round School alternatives range from a staggered quarter system, through one calling for a 48 week year for all, to a multiple trails system, in which a given building would handle more students per day than now, by staggering the amount of students being instructed at one time. Instructional time would be re-scheduled into time modules, in an 11-month school year.

Committee reaction: Interest in the ideas but some disillusionment that it wouldn't be an instant money-saver; let's get more vitality into the 9 or 10 month school year we have the kids in now, before we get going on lengthening it.

One reason for this: in between the summer-school and the year-round school discussions, the committee asked for a frank report from their student member, John Wooten, on the attitude of high school students toward their learning experiences. Wooten's reply: as you'd expect, some students are very interested, some don't care, some are bored. Skipping classes has dropped significantly, and students find more work is expected of them this year. Why? Students find they can't get away with as much.

"Why are bored students bored?" Wooten's reply? "Classroom presentation - almost a dozen years of a teacher standing up in front telling you how it's done." Students favor techniques that bring the outside in, such as films, etc. He added that boredom was not true of all students, as some are definitely enjoying their learning, but it was typical of a segment of the school.

Wooten told the TOWNSMAN he was getting a lot out of school committee meetings because he was learning "firsthand" instead of a teacher up in front just telling me how it's done." Wooten, a senior who is football manager this year, was elected by his fellow students in the spring and has regularly attended meetings since.

The academic year is in its shake-down stage, Wooten said, but there is no doubt about the real enthusiasm for the new form of student government. This is a senate form of government with rotating homeroom representatives which involves a far greater number of students in their government than before.

The non-voting student member of the committee also reported that interest in student activities was up, with a number of students taking responsibility on themselves through interest groups of the Student Activity Center. The main effort now, he added, was a "Save the Center" movement to stave off demolition of the old firehouse over the winter, so it can continue to serve as a drop-in and activity center.

Outing Clubs Commence Programs

Three Andover YMCA Outing Club units opened their fall term programs last Saturday. The boys' group traveled to the South Boston Naval Shipyard for an inspection tour of the U.S.S. Compton and the yard facilities. Trip-master director, Dick Shupe was in charge of the program assisted by fathers of group members. Other programs tentatively scheduled for the balance of the term include weekend mountain climbing trips on Oct. 17, 18 and Nov. 14, 15, a weekend bicycle trip to Captain's Pond on Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 and on Dec. 5 a program which will include an airplane flight and rocket demonstration.

The girls' Outing Club for grades 4-6, under trip director Mrs. Anne Paradis, traveled to the Ipswich River Sanctuary in Topsfield for the annual Harvest Day Festival. Coming events for this group include mountain climbs on Oct. 17 and Nov. 14, a trip to Plum Island on Oct. 31 and a bicycle hike on Nov. 21.

The Girls' Outing Club for grades 7-9, under trip director Mrs. Helen Eccles, went on a trip to Plum Island followed by participation in the program of the annual Benefit Fair of the Audubon Conservation Group at the Ipswich River Bird Sanctuary. Coming events for this age group include mountain climbs on Oct. 17, and Oct. 31 and Nov. 21 and a bicycle trip on Nov. 14.

To Observe Yom Kippur

From sundown Oct. 9, till sundown the following day, Reform, Conservative and Orthodox Jews throughout the world will observe Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, the most sacred and solemn of the ancient Hebrew holidays. The observance of Yom Kippur is one which has remained unbroken for over 2,000 years.

Yom Kippur is universally observed by all branches of Judaism by fasting from sundown to sundown, by prayer and by a searching re-appraisal of the individual's behavior, in his relationship to his fellow man, and to his God. It is the culmination of ten days of intense self-examination; during which the individual Jew examines the year just past, atones for his shortcomings in relation to God and man, and expresses his hopes for strength and regeneration for the year to come.

The opening liturgy, sung during Yom Kippur Eve, is called the "Kol Nidre," a prayer for forgiveness written in the 7th-8th century. The melody which accompanies it, one of the most haunting and beautiful of all liturgical works, has its origin in the music of medieval Germany. The "Kol Nidre" (which means 'all vows') is a plea for God's forgiveness of human fallibility should man fail to keep the promises made to God.

The Yom Kippur service continues throughout the day. A section of the Torah read on this day is taken from the Biblical Book of Deuteronomy: "See, I have set before thee this day life and good, and death and evil... therefore choose life, that thou mayst live..." Toward the end of the service, there is a special prayer of mourning for the dead.

As the sun sets, the holiday ends with a final blast from the shofar, the ram's horn, used for thousands of years in the observance of Rosh Hashanah (the Jewish New Year) and Yom Kippur. The significance of Yom Kippur for the Jewish people is profound. It reflects an emphasis upon the nature of man as a responsible being, capable of change and redemption through his own acts, and never irrevocably lost. By asking forgiveness of God, and of those he has wronged, man can change his life and the world around him.

At Temple Emanuel, Rabbi Harry A. Roth will conduct services, assisted by Cantor Irving Shuman and the Temple Emanuel Choir, with Miss Mildred Moore at the organ.

The following is the complete schedule of services for Kol Nidre and Yom Kippur.

Kol Nidre - Friday evening, Oct. 9, 7 p.m.

Yom Kippur Services - Saturday, Oct. 10; Shachris, 9 a.m.; Torah Service, 10 a.m.; Main Service, including Sermon and Yizkor follow Torah Service. Afternoon service (Minchah), 4 p.m.; Closing service (Neilah), 5 p.m.

Children's services for both pre-school children and children 7 to 12 years of age, are conducted in the school wing, by Mrs. Jean Kochman and George Marvit respectively, at 11:30 a.m.

Dr. Banta In Concert On Sunday

Dr. Lorene Banta, Phillips Academy organist, will present a recital of organ music composed by 11 members of the Bach family, Oct. 11, in Cochran Chapel, on the school campus, at 4 p.m.

The recital, under the auspices of the music department, is open to the public.

The 11 composers are representatives of seven generations of a family whose name was synonymous with music in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. The most famous was Johann Sebastian Bach, whose triple fugue in E flat will be presented by Dr. Banta.

The others are Johann Christoph Bach, Johann Michael Bach, Heinrich Bach, Johann Bernhard Bach, Johann Lorenz Bach, Johann Christian Bach, Wilhelm Friedemann Bach, Johann Ernst Bach and Carl Philipp Emanuel Bach.

Newcomers Planning Fashion Show

The Andover - North Andover Newcomers Club will sponsor a fashion show and luncheon on Oct. 29 at The Merrimack Valley Motor Inn, Route 125, North Andover. Ski wear and casual clothes will be shown along with evening wear. Hair styles and makeup will also be shown. John Charles will provide musical accompaniment with commentary by Mrs. Warren Brandt, Sr. and Mrs. Betty Horton.

Any ladies wishing to attend should contact Mrs. Carroll Gouger 475-1436 before Oct. 22. Babysitting reservations should be made through Mrs. Malcolm Cameron 475-3011.

Mrs. John Fuchs of Andover is chairman of the entire event.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

It is sign up time for the annual Fall Foliage Trip sponsored by The Haven Associates for all of Andover's 'over-60' citizens.

The bus will leave the Haven at 10:30 Wednesday morning, Oct. 21, returning late in the afternoon. Bus fare will be two dollars. The group will travel to Westminster, stopping for lunch at The Old Mill. In order to take advantage of group luncheon rates, everyone who makes a reservation will be required to indicate choice of luncheon from the menu on hand at The Haven at the time of reservation. Bus fare must be paid at that time, also.

Any who have already signed up without indicating luncheon choice are asked to call The Haven as soon as possible and make that selection (475-3968).

The Council on Aging is happy to note an increase in participation in the hot lunch program. The program is a service to provide balanced meals with happy companionship and not a charity. Each participant is expected to pay for his lunch at the regular non-student rate of fifty cents. Lunch is served at 12:45 daily, advance reservations made the day before at The Haven.

Spade, Trowel Club To Meet

The Spade and Trowel Garden club will meet Tuesday, Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. Lindsay Shuford, 174 Chestnut St.

Japanese Flower Arranging will be the topic and Mrs. Robert Fraser will be the speaker.

Mrs. Shuford will be the hostess with Mrs. Wilson Meisser and Mrs. Charles Salvage, co-hostesses.

Guests are welcome.

Troop 75 'String Burn' Champions

Boy Scout Troop 75 won first place in the District Camporee "String Burning" contest by the speedy performance of teammates Phillip D'Annolfo and Billy Lewis. The troop won the first round of the "tug of war", but was defeated in the finals. The camporee was attended by: Duncan Black, Tommy Black, Billy Bruner, Tommy Burke, Greg Champagne, Charlie Champagne, Mark Costello, Mark D'Annolfo, Phillip D'Annolfo, Roger Davis, Peter Doran, Jimmy Galbiati, Robert Gilday, Roy Hoffman, Keith Kenny, Billy Lewis, Brad Munn, John Staid, Michael Warwick, Mike Witt.

Troop 75 meetings have proven to be a success based on the number of new boys who have joined scouting.

A special class of the following 9 new boys is aimed at preparing them for the Tenderfoot Rank by the Oct. 24 overnight "Advancement" campout: Bobby Burke, Tommy Burke, Greg Champagne, Joseph Fitzgerald, Mark Reynolds, Jim Smyth, John Staid, Michael Warwick, Mike Witt.

The final list of boys for the Troop Charter is being prepared. Boys who are 11 years old and enjoy hikes and campouts can join by attending the Friday night meeting at 7 p.m. at the Doherty school gymnasium. This will still enable them to participate in the barbequed roast pig dinner the scouts will prepare for their fathers. James Smyth will supervise the barbeque fire. An advancement ceremony chairman will be named next week by Committee Chairman William D'Annolfo. The First Aid and Ax Sharpening sessions at the Oct.

Psychologist To Speak At Free Church

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 14, the first Parent Education meeting of the Free Church Cooperative Nursery School will be held in the lower church hall on Elm St., beginning at 7:30 with a coffee hour.

Promptly at 8:15, Mrs. Pat Cunningham, teacher and new director of the school, will introduce the speaker for the evening, Dr. Joel Friedman, psychologist for the Andover school system.

The public is invited to hear Dr. Friedman speak on the Andover testing program and how it relates to the pre-school child. Dr. Seifert, superintendent of schools, has suggested the many advantages of having the public schools work more closely with the local pre-schools.

Dr. Friedman received his Bachelor's Degree from Williams College, his M.S. Degree from the City College of New York and his Ph.D. from Texas Technological College. In addition to being Andover School Psychologist for four years, he is also director of psychological research at the North Suffolk Mental Health Center in Boston and has a private practice in Andover.

article, told of the advantages of placing the entire parcel in the hands of the conservation commission, stating the river frontage would be protected and would provide canoe launching and recreation areas, as well as preservation of trees and vegetation. Selectman Roger W. Collins said that the selectmen were willing to give the commission the river frontage property and other parcels within the overall acreage. He said, however, that there is considerable valuable acreage which could be developed industrially, adding that the town had spent thousands of dollars to bring in water and sewer lines to the area.

Selectman William Stewart supported his colleagues stating he and the selectmen want to see the best use of the property in view of the thousands of dollars already spent there.

Former Manager Bowen felt that a compromise was needed since a vote in favor "would be a repudiation of our system," meaning that the leadership of the community should be able to resolve the issue by March town meeting.

He moved to amend the article to have the selectmen, manager and conservation commission meet to discuss the matter and come up with a decision for the March town meeting. The amendment was defeated.

When the vote was taken 367 were in favor and 209 opposed, less than the two-thirds vote required.

Following the vote, article 19 was taken out of order, since it dealt with the same issue. This article was sponsored by Bowen.

This time, after some repetitious debate, Bowen moved that the matter be tabled.

Moderator Williams ruled that such action could not be taken, a move questioned, but affirmed by town counsel who said that the moderator rules supreme over town meeting.

A vote on this article showed 392 in favor and 190 opposed, more than the two-thirds necessary.

Due to the legal problems involved, the moderator announced the decision as being left "to the wisdom of the future."

Another standing vote was required for approval of the acquisition of land off Andover street which the town will use for gravel and fill as needed. It was approved

An article seeking a new vehicle for the fire department to replace the deputy chief's car was approved in the amount of $4,000 after the finance committee stipulated that its approval was only if the vehicle is equipped to serve as a backup ambulance.

Unanimous approval was given to changing the zoning of the Raytheon property in Shawsheen. Currently zoned general industrial, the new classification makes it industrial A, giving the town more control over future operations.

Bowen asked why $7,000 was needed for flushing water lines, when the water department annually returns money to the town.

Public Works Director Robert McQuade informed the meeting that the flushing program as planned, has never been carried out in Andover before and that the money needed is to cover overtime pay, not presently contained in the budget.

The article was approved on a voice vote.

Bowen also questioned the article asking for $10,000 to replace fire alarm cables.

He felt there was sufficient money in the fire department or public safety building account. Informed the money was not in either and that the work was necessary, the voters approved this item on a voice vote.

Bowen's article to place newspapers and periodicals in a receptacle at the sanitary disposal site was withdrawn. He proposed that the papers and magazines be bundled and sold.

Another Bowen article called for regulatory control of salt on roads during the winter. DPW Director McQuade informed the meeting that the degree of pollution caused by highway salting has never been determined. He said he would be glad to go along with the article, if all cars were removed from Andover, since the practice of salting roads is in the interest of highway safety.

The article was approved.

Two reports were received by the meeting.

The first was by Atty. William Dalton who headed a committee studying the feasibility of changing the town election and town meeting from March to April. The committee found that the present system should be continued by further study of town meeting should be made.

The report was received and Moderator Williams reappointed the committee for further town meeting study.

Chairman Robert A. Watters of the selectmen gave a community goals report as requested for this meeting. He said the selectmen felt that an advisory council should be appointed for this purpose, composed of representatives of the school department, selectmen, planning board and finance committee.

He noted that there are already 200 persons working for the goals and aims of the community on elective and appointed boards.

The report was received.

There were 655 voters in attendance at the meeting which adjourned at 11:15 p.m.

To Attend Discussion

The Parents League of Greater Boston is having its first meeting of the season on Friday evening, Oct. 16 at the Museum of Fine Arts restaurant. The subject will be Viewpoint 1970, a discussion of three major influences in child and adolescent development.

The moderator will be Sonya Hamlin, and the three panelists will be: family, Dr. Robert Masland, Jr., chief of adolescent unit Childrens Hospital Medical Center; community, A. Bruce Bergquist, director Dynamy Program, Worcester; education, Peter Dow, director Social Studies Curriculum Program Education Development Center, Cambridge.

The Parents League feels that many problems of current interest to parents will be discussed in depth.

Cocktails and dinner will be served before the meeting. Mrs. Gardner Fay of Concord, is in charge of reservations. Co-chairmen for the meeting are Mrs. R. Willis Leith, Jr. of Dedham and Mrs. Arthur Hilsinger of Medfield.

Members of the Andover-North Andover Parents League attending will be Mrs. Lyman G. Bullard, Mrs. Philip B. Weld, Mrs. Peter Q. McKee, and Mrs. John C. Young.

BOWDOIN Football Player —
Mark Haley, is a fullback on the 1970 Bowdoin College varsity football team. A senior, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Haley of 11 Chandler Circle. Haley is a graduate of Phillips Academy.

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances. — First Amendment, United States Constitution.

Mobile Office At Center

The State Division of Employment Security mobile employment office was parked two days this week in the municipal parking lot to aid the Internal Revenue Service Center in its drive for 3000 seasonal employees.

The mobile office was officially opened Monday morning by Acting Director Patrick J. Ruttelle of the service center and Superintendent Nicholas Boratgis of the State Employment Division.

Scores of Andover residents who visited the mobile office were given applications for seasonal positions at the service center. IRS is recruiting 3000 keypunch operators, clerks and tax examiners.

On Faculty At Lowell

Two area men have joined the faculty of Lowell Technological Institute at the start of the current academic year. William D. Whittaker, Jr., is a new instructor in the department of plastics technology, and Dr. Joseph C. Salamone is an assistant professor of chemistry.

Whittaker, who resides with his wife and three children at 24 Salem St. in North Andover, earned his undergraduate degree at Lowell Tech. An instructor in plastics mold engineering for the LTI evening division last year, he has been a process engineer for the Borden Chemical Company in North Andover for the past three years.

Dr. Salamone has a Ph.D. degree from Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and has most recently been a research associate at the University of Michigan. He has also served as secretary of the University's Macromolecular Research Center. He now resides with his family at 7 Crescent Drive in Andover.

Miss Elizabeth-Ellen Hills Installed As Officer In Rainbow

Saturday evening, Sept. 26, North Reading Assembly 103, International Order of the Rainbow for Girls, held its installation of officers. Miss Elizabeth-Ellen Hills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Hills, 19 Jenkins Road, was installed as Worthy Advisor for the ensuing term.

Miss Hills and her parents attended the Supreme Assembly of Rainbow this summer in Cleveland, Ohio. Girls from 46 states and 6 foreign countries were united in this biennial session.

Captain Workman Returns

Captain Richard A. Workman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Workman, formerly of Andover, has returned from a year's duty in Nha Trang, Vietnam.

He served with the 934th Medical Detachment and in charge of the Dental Civic Action program, which provided dental care for Vietnamese civilians in outlying areas.

Recipient of the Bronze Star and the Vietnamese Technical Service Award, is now home on a short leave.

With his wife, the former Sandra Parker of West Newbury and daughter, Jennifer Lynn, he will reside at Fort Devens, Ayer, for the balance of his military career which will end in December.

West PTA To Meet On Thursday

On Thursday evening, Oct. 15 the West School PTA will hold an open house for parents at 7:30 p.m. This will be the first meeting of the year. Tours will be conducted by the Student Orientation Committee, comprised of students selected from grades four, five and six. PTA annual dues will be collected at this meeting and envelopes for this purpose will be sent home with the pupils next week.

Following a tour of the building, parents will regroup in the new Auditorium to hear a resume of the 1970-71 PTA calendar by Jerome P. Hochschwender, president.

Refreshments will be served by the Kindergarten mothers under the direction of Mrs. Clayton Crotch.

Officers of the West School PTA for this year include: Jerome P. Hochschwender, president; Norman Fredette, first vice president; Frank Orlando, second vice president; Mrs. Jerome Sohler, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Pellicione, secretary; Mrs. Harold O. Keegan, publicity.

Mrs. O'Connor On Faculty

Mrs. Donald T. O'Connor of 11 Charles St., has joined the faculty of Massachusetts' newest junior college, Bryant McIntosh Junior College in Lawrence, it is announced by Dr. Howard C. Reith, president.

Mrs. O'Connor is an instructor in the department of secretarial science.

Born in Boston, the former Virginia McCourt, she has a bachelor of science degree from Boston University and is doing graduate study in education at Salem State College.

The mother of three children, she is vice president of the Shawheen School P.T.A. and a delegate to Andover's Educational Town Meeting.

Mrs. O'Connor is the daughter of Mr. Oswald J. McCourt of Newtonville, where she lived for many years.

WHY EDUCATION?

Thoughtful parents know that many of the problems their children face cannot be answered by what is taught at school or learned at home. The church's responsibility is to create an environment where problems can be illuminated by the light of faith in a community of concern.

"Where will my child acquire the moral fiber to choose between compassion and self-interest?"

"How can we learn to defy the de-humanizing effects of technology?"

"How shall we match physical growth with inner strength and maturity to cope with drugs, sexual permissiveness, and material greed?"

"What equips men and women to form strong, constructive, and lasting relationships?"

"How can one make ready to conquer pain, frustration, or death?"

"What can I give my child that will enable him to face an uncertain world and to survive?"

Christ Church offers a professionally directed modern and comprehensive program of moral and religious training to children of the community from Pre-Kindergarten through High School. For information, call 475-0529, or send in the blank below.

Editorial Comment

Conservation

Hardly do we oppose the theory of conservationists, who are abundant in this community.

But we do feel strongly that conservation of valuable properties should not be made an emotional issue, such as was the case Monday night at town meeting.

The issue involved those controversial lots which came to the town through tax title some months ago in the industrially zoned area between Gillette and Reichhold companies.

The selectmen want to retain control of the lots, while conservationists urge turning over the acreage to the Conservation Commission.

Monday night the voters, first failed to turn them over, then on a second article granted the transfer.

The legality of the move is still in question.

The selectmen have informed the town that they will assuredly grant some of the area, particularly the river front property to the conservation people.

The useable, valuable property, they would like to retain control over since the town has expended thousands of dollars to provide utilities to the area.

A Wise Move

The Finance Committee made a wise move in stipulating the type of vehicle to be purchased for the fire department at Monday's town meeting.

The FinCom approved the expenditure of $4,000 to purchase a vehicle to replace the deputy chief's car.

Approval was necessary in order to allow the matter to be considered.

The FinCom specifically stated that they would approve the item provided the vehicle purchased is equipped to serve as a backup ambulance.

Since another article, requesting a second ambulance for the town was rejected by the majority of the selectmen, this action by the FinCom seemed wise.

As matters stand no action on additional ambulance service or change in policy would appear to be forthcoming until March.

There has been considerable evidence in recent weeks of additional need for ambulance service and policy change.

With the majority of the selectmen opposed to purchase of a second ambulance at this time, the FinCom naturally refused to give approval to the item which would have let the matter come to town meeting floor.

But they did, apparently foresee a need for additional or backup emergency service, thus allowing the purchase of the fire department vehicle, more than likely a station wagon, properly equipped.

The decision to insert the specifications, indicates the wisdom with which the FinCom members attack their voluntary advisory duties.

Pantsuits

Seldom do we get into the area of women's fashions, feeling that any commentary would assuredly engender some portion of the feminine population.

But, this week, we feel we must examine fashions, in light of recent news stories.

A young lady has been barred from school in one community in Massachusetts for arriving at school in a pantsuit.

Modern education which is being constantly thrown at us, with its ballyhooed advantages, apparently has been too deeply involved in such things as modern math and all sorts of programs and has become blind to the fact that styles change.

The person (male of the species) who would find it difficult finding that two and two equals four through the intricate modern math process, still has an adequate ability to admire the female form, graciously adorned.

We would like to advise modern educators that pantsuits would appear to easily come within the dress code, if they would only put down their books and look around a bit.

In another news item, an industry, which allowed its women employees to wear pantsuits, suddenly found themselves with all sorts of female regalia, and asked for a definition of a pantsuit.

To our strained eye, a pantsuit is a garment composed of a flaired top of about mini-skirt length combined with pants which can terminate normally, or in bell bottoms.

They appear popular and becoming.

That's our fashion commentary, for whatever it may be worth.

The area, about 50 acres, could bring tax revenue to the town-much needed as we witness municipal costs increase annually, and by about $1 through Monday night's action.

An appeal to delay a decision until March failed. The conservationists wanted the land now.

The conservation philosophy is good. Open areas must be preserved as we see our surroundings diminish through new construction.

But there should be some concession by the conservationists, since we can not long afford to sacrifice valuable land.

Actually, what happened Monday night probably served conservation purposes.

The legal entanglements now hovering over the properties would more than likely drive any interested industrialist from considering the land.

Thus some valuable land which could be utilized to improve our industrial base will probably lay idle.

It is unfortunate, since considerable other portions of the lots would most assuredly have been turned over to the conservation commission.

Off The Top

Word comes to the desk concerning what has to be the neatest thief or thieves.

Seems a family away for the weekend returned to find their home broken into. Several items such as silver were taken in the break.

A further check of the house found that they had also stripped the bed of the sheets and pillow cases, but were thoughtful enough to remake the bed before leaving.

An Andover symbol has been getting plenty of national publicity lately.

The symbol is that of the Gillette Toiletries Co. in Lowell Junction. The circle with the three bars, denoting Gillette Toiletries products has been appearing on national television with considerable regularity.

This is due to the major league playoff games and weekend football contests. It will again be before the public during the World Series.

Al Graceffa, formerly director of the band at Wilmington High school was pictured on the front page of the Wilmington paper last week.

After having served for many years in the suburban community he was shown leading Andover High school's band at the Eugene Lovely field two weeks ago.

Graceffa came to Andover this year.

Rick Harrison, who covers sports for the TOWNSMAN during varying seasons, left this week to cover the World Series for the Lowell newspaper with which he is employed.

Memorial Hall Library

Children's Hours

We are repeating the fact that the Children's Room is open evenings, as well as days, since some people may have missed this change in schedule which took place last June. There is a staff-member in the Children's Room from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. every day Monday through Friday and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The new evening hours were arranged to make the parking problem easier.

Miss Bold, director, suggests that parents and small children come to the library just before or after supper, sometime between 5:30 and 7:30.

Great Books

Don't forget the next gathering of the Great Books Discussion

The sportswriter left for Cincinnati this week and will begin coverage of the games both there and in Baltimore.

Since his coverage of the Stanley Cup series last spring, he has covered some Red Sox contests and the World Tennis Championships.

Following the series, he will return to coverage of the Bruins as they try to retain the Stanley Cup.

In last week's TOWNSMAN, we editorially commented on the "sick society," referring to some of the actions of young people, militants, revolutionaries and those who take advantage of misfortune.

The ink was hardly dry when the Wilmington Town Crier arrived with a front page advertisement which upheld our editorial thoughts.

The ad read: "$100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party, or parties, who bombed my front door at about 3 o'clock last Wednesday morning. My wife is totally deaf, and I am a totally disabled veteran of World War I."

We deplore some of these schoolboy football teams that appear to run up scores on weak opposition.

Last week, for instance, North Andover was defeated 55 - 0, with a member of the opposition in line for scoring records in the state.

Such action appears unwarranted for it demoralizes the youthful participants suffering the embarrassing defeat and leads to a falling of off school spirit.

There appears to be no need of such action, despite possible individual records.

Group will be held on Oct. 13 at 7:30 in the library. The book under discussion is Hermann Hesse's Narcissus and Goldmund. All are welcome for one or all meetings which are held on alternate Tuesdays.

U. N. Movie

In celebration of the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the United Nations the young people in our town will have a chance to view a film called "Journey of Fabio Pacchion" which illustrates how young people can alter the thinking of their parents and townspeople through dramatic presentations.

Fabio Pacchion is an Italian actor, sent by the Unicef Organization to work with the young people in a small, rural com-

Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grigoli

"I must study politics and war that my sons may have liberty to study mathematics and philosophy, geography, natural history, naval architecture, navigation, commerce and agriculture in order to give their children a right to study paintings, poetry, music, architecture . . ."

John Adams, 1735 - 1826

From the beginning of recorded human behavior, music has been recognized as an essential element in the life of the individual and in society. Music encompasses the entire range of human emotions: joy, sadness, patriotism, war, hatred and frustration, contentment, love and religion.

It is important that pupils, as a part of general education, learn to appreciate, to understand, to create, and to criticize with discrimination those products of the mind, the voice, the hand, and the body which give dignity to the person, and relate him to his environment.

Music is one of our richest heritages. It is one of the real accomplishments of the human race. Each child must study music to share in this heritage and to have the opportunity to participate in this vital form of creative self-expression.

Freshman Weekend Scheduled

Merrimack College administration and faculty will sponsor Freshman Parents Weekend Oct. 10 and 11 to acquaint the parents of freshmen with the campus and the college in general.

The parents of the 583 members of the class of 1974 have been invited to visit the college and to participate in the many activities which have been planned for their two-day stay in the North Andover area. Registration of those parents taking advantage of the weekend will be held at 12 on Saturday in Perkins Lounge of Tagastan Hall and will be followed by lunch in the cafeteria, where they will be joined by their family members. The afternoon's activities include tours of the campus, historical tours sponsored by the North Andover Historical Society, an art exhibit in the library, a track meet, and a soccer match. A tea will be given by the Ladies of Merrimack in the lounge at 4 p.m. Dinner will be on the town, and at 8 p.m. the String Ensemble of the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic will present a recital in the College Chapel. Admission to the concert, which will be directed by Nicholas Van Slyck, is free. The program will include selections from Corelli, Faure, Bach, Hindemith, and Mozart.

On Sunday, Mass will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. in the col-

Andona Ball Set For Oct. 16

The Andover Country Club will be glowing by candlelight on Friday, Oct. 16, when the Andona Society holds its annual benefit ball. Couples will be dancing in a colorful autumn atmosphere to the music of Pete Derba's orchestra and dining at midnight when a light buffet will be served.

Co-chairmen of the dance are Mrs. John Perkowski and Mrs. Thomas Swift. Assisting in plans for the evening are Mrs. Bruce Taylor, invitations; Mrs. Robert Finlayson, door; Mrs. Sanford Carlisle, refreshments; Mrs. David Starkweather, decorations; Mrs. Francis Witt, chances; Mrs. John Atanasoff, finances; and Mrs. Robert Gable, publicity.

Proceeds from the dance are used to assist Andona in aiding the youth of Andover in a variety of ways. The public is invited, and reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Bruce Taylor.

Camera Club To Hear From Photographer

The meeting of the Camera Club of Thursday evening Oct. 8 will feature an illustrated talk entitled "Fun with Photography" by Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Unverhaus. This husband and wife team are among the leading photographers in the Eastern seaboard.

They are both associates of the Photographic Society of America and both hold four star ratings in Nature Photography. During the summer they conduct a series of courses in nature photography at Hummingbird Hill in the Monadnock Region.

Their talk will show interesting ways of using equipment and adding simple accessories to get better results in nature photography. It is similar to talks they have given in the past at the Camera College held annually at the University of Mass. by the New England Camera Club Council of which the Unverhaus' have long been active members.

Club members are reminded to bring in slides and prints for the competition to be held at the next meeting so that they may be pre-judged by the commentators. The categories are Machinery, Texture shots and General for slides and Machinery and General for prints.

Meetings are held in the meeting room of the Merrimack Valley National Bank at 335 Common St., Lawrence at 8 p.m. Visitors will be welcome.

There will be a short instructional period starting at 7:30 for those needing help on photographic problems or the use of equipment.

Historical Society To Meet

The Andover Historical Society will hold its opening meeting Thursday, Oct. 15 at 8 p.m. at the Amos Blanchard House, 97 Main St.

Mrs. Ralph H. Hill, program chairman, has announced an interesting series of topics for the year, centering around Essex County and its history, considering the contributions in the field of decorative arts, the origin of the Topsfield Fair, and the industrial development including the Saugus Iron Works.

The first speaker will be John Hardy Wright, assistant to the curator of Essex Institute in Salem and lecturer on the architecture and decorative arts of Essex County. The subject of his illustrated talk will be "Furniture of Essex County, 1750-1850."

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. A. Glenn Hanson and Mrs. Edward F. Stokham.

The society is open to the public weekly, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 2 to 4 and by appointment.

Museum Seeking Members

During the month of October, The Boston Museum of Fine Arts is making a special appeal for new members in the Greater Lawrence area.

Active in promoting the importance of the museum to this community, and the many advantages of membership are Mrs. James R. Adriance, Mrs. George Bixby, Mrs. Hart Leavitt, Mrs. Joshua L. Miner, Mrs. Samuel S. Rogers, Mrs. Robert Saltonstall, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Joseph Zelinski and Mrs. Leon Kutz.

On Wednesday, Oct. 21, they have planned an informal reception and luncheon in the Trustees Room of the Museum of Fine Arts. Before luncheon volunteer guides of the museum, with visits to the Forsyth Wickes collection of French furnishings, the McIntyre Rooms, and to as many of the Painting Galleries as time permits.

The schedule for Oct. 21 is as follows: 10 a.m., Bus will leave Memorial Tower, Phillips Academy, corner of Salem St. and Main St. (parking available); 10:45 a.m., Introductory tours of the Museum; 12, Informal sherry reception in the Trustees Room, followed by light lunch; 2 p.m., Bus will return to Andover.

The tour is limited to 50 people and registration will be accepted in order of receipt. The cost of the tour is $4.50 which includes bus fare, museum admission, and lunch, and it offers an easy and delightful way to visit the Museum. Reservations should be made through Mrs. Samuel S. Rogers, 49 Salem St., 475-3490. Checks may be made payable to The Museum of Fine Arts.

Observe Golden Jubilee

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Livingston, formerly of 52 Brown St., and now of Goffstown, N. H., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Sept. 18.

They were given a surprise visit from Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Turgeon of 52 Brown St.

A beautiful cake was presented to the couple and friends and relatives presented the jubilarians with many gifts and cards.

She Taught Princesses

A teacher of princesses is ballet instructor Cristina Alonso Rubio, of 12 School St., formerly of Madrid, Spain.

Andover resident Mrs. Rubio began and directed her own ballet academy in Madrid, where she taught Princess Irene of the Netherlands, the princesses Teresa and Christina of Bavaria, and the granddaughters of Franco, ruler of Spain. Here she also instructed the Spanish actress Teresa Rabal, who starred in "Viridiana."

Her sister now directs this academy and its 400 pupils, since Cristina Rubio left Spain several years ago to come to the United States, and eventually Andover, with her husband, Phillips Academy Spanish instructor Angel Rubio.

The former Madrid ballet director and professional dancer, a student of famous Russian dancer Olga Preobrayenska, has been Abbot Academy's ballet instructor for several years.

Europe's serious ballet students travel from one capital to another seeking top instruction, and Cristina was no exception. She began in Madrid and Barcelona, in the three great schools of the art, Spanish, Russian and Classical ballet, and her native country's Flamenco. She was drawn to Paris to dance under Preobrayenska's eye, and traveled to Denmark to study under Egorova Batholin.

Her pupils, also, have spread. Cecilia Rodrigo was a student at Christina Rubio's ballet academy in Madrid; now she teaches ballet in Brussels.

Home to Cristina and Angel Rubio is now Andover, and her satisfaction is seeing young people and adults develop poise and grace through ballet, and through related physical fitness exercises, set to music.

Princesses are as scarce as hen's teeth here in Andover; but ballet's regal control and precision of movement, grace and beauty of movement and a sense of physical fitness are as prized by the women of the Fifth Congressional District of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts as they are at the royal court of the Netherlands.

Status Of Patrols Examined

What is the legal status of safety patrols in the elementary schools? Can parents refuse to have their children walk in patrols, or are the schools legally responsible for students' safety until they reach home?

It may come as a surprise, but Massachusetts, unlike some other states, has no legal responsibility for the safety and conduct of children walking to and from school. According to Assistant Superintendent Vaughn I. Clapp, who has contacted the legal office of the State Department of Education, parents certainly have the right to refuse to have their children walk home in patrols. This is because the schools have no legal responsibility for children beyond the school boundaries, and technically cannot delegate to some children authority over other children and insist that the children continue in patrols, off the school grounds.

Clapp stated, however, that all elementary schools will continue to offer safety patrols since the administration feels that walking in patrols is important to the safety of elementary school children.

The assistant superintendent encourages parents to continue to have their children walk home together in patrols for safety, pointing out that students in Central, Shawsheen, Bancroft and West Elementary Schools particularly need them because of the number of streets to cross and the traffic conditions.

On the other hand, Clapp said he wanted to make the real findings of the state's Department of Education public, and to assure parents that their right to refuse the safety patrols service would be respected.

Caterpillars breathe through their sides.

Program Of Strings Saturday

The String Ensemble of the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Society will present a free concert at 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 10 in the College Chapel. Nicholas Van Slyck, music director of the Philharmonic Society, will direct the String Ensemble.

The evening's program is as follows: "Christmas", Opus 6, number 8 of Corelli's "Concerto Grosso", "Nocturne for Strings" (From the incidental music to "Shylock") by Gabriel Faure; "Brandenburg Concerto Number 3, J. S. Bach; Opus 44, Number 4 from Paul Hindemith's "Five Pieces for String Orchestra"; and "Serenade in G, K. 525, "Eine kleine Nachtmusik" by Wolfgang Mozart.

The string ensemble, like its parent organization, the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Society, is composed of interested citizens from virtually all occupations. Their mutual interest in music has prompted them to promote the cultural welfare of the Merrimack Valley Community.

The String Ensemble includes the following members: Violins - Domenic Teoli, Walter Kiesel, Clara DiCarlo, Joseph Camara, Bernice Zelos, Phyllis Forsyth, Benjamin Cogen, and Evelyn Castacone; Viola - Max Harvey, Anthony Ippolito, and Huber Wells; Violoncello - Virginia Birnie, Uno Matson, and Sam Willis; and George Perrone on Bass Viol.

Saturday's concert is open to the public.

FEATURE DANCER. Miss Sharon Ringland has been selected as a feature dancer in The Nutcracker Suite to be presented in December by the Greater Lawrence Children's Ballet company.

Selected As Feature Dancer

Miss Sharon Ringland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ringland, 148 North St., has been selected as one of the featured dancers in The Nutcracker Suite to be staged in December.

Miss Ringland is 14 years old and a student at Andover West Junior High School. She is quite active in school activities and plans to make dance her career. Her hobbies include swimming, painting, music and dance.

Miss Ringland is a performing member of the Greater Lawrence Childrens Ballet Company, who will perform Nutcracker Suite, as part of their 1970-71 dance season. Last season Miss Ringland was seen in Space Variations, Scottish Rhapsody, Aurora Snow Ballet, and as a corps de ballet member of Chopins Les Sylphides.

In addition to the Childrens Ballet she is a student at the Merrimack Valley Academy of Dance, and is a student assistant for the ballet classes as part of her teacher training program.

Boston YW Workshops

Teen-age girls from Andover are invited to the "Saturday Boutique," an 8-week program of creative workshops at the Boston YWCA, beginning Oct. 17.

Classes include sewing, dance, drama, guitar and creative home arts. Each girl selects three from the roster. The fee for the program is $12.00 plus $2.00 membership.

Local alumnae of the Saturday Boutique include Candy Lowe.

The Boston YWCA is supported by the Mass. Bay United Fund.

Four Enter
Dartmouth

Four students from Andover were among the 850 members of the class of 1974 to enter Dartmouth College this fall. They are: John W. Danforth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Danforth of 28 Greenwood Road; Daniel M. Earley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Earley of 12 Cedar Road; Carl E. Levick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Levick of 8 Poplar Terrace; and David C. Roulston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Roulston of 59 Bartlett St.

Dartmouth College, ninth oldest in the nation, was founded under the last educational charter granted in the American colonies under the name of King George III of England in 1769. It is the northernmost member of the Ivy League.

Mr. Danforth graduated from the Phillips Academy where he was active with the school band, the dramatics group, and the magazine staff. He skied and ran cross country for the junior varsity teams.

Mr. Earley graduated from Andover High school, where he was a member of the National Honor Society. He was captain of the cross country team and a member of the track team and the student council.

Mr. Levick also graduated from Andover High. He was a member of the National Honor Society and of the school band and orchestra.

Another graduate of Andover High, Mr. Roulston was a National Merit Scholar. He was active in high school with the band and the cross country and track teams, as well as being a member of the National Honor Society.

The first of a series of five lectures in the Christian Life Lectures Series will be presented at the Christian Formation Center, River Road, on Sunday evening, Oct. 18 at 8 p.m.

The Christian Formation Center brings this series as a service to the Merrimack Valley community for the benefit of people of all faiths. The series seeks to present the Christian attitudes towards contemporary social and religious issues. The featured speaker is Albert H. Miller, associate professor of Political Science at Mundelein College, Chicago, Ill. Mr. Miller will speak on "Racism and American Catholicism."

Albert Miller is a long-time authority on race relations and international diplomacy and widely known as a lecturer in the mid-west. He received a B.A. degree from DePaul University and an M.A. from the University of Chicago. He has been teaching for several years on the college level. Albert Miller has served as consultant to the Chicago Archdiocese - Office of Inner-City Apostolate, as Deputy Director of the Upward Bound Program, Mundelein College, as Technical Consultant and Advisor to Upward Bound at College of St. Teresa and as Review Editor of The Critic publication. Recently Mr. Miller lectured at Millikin University, Decatur, Ill., at the University of Manitoba, Canada, for the City of Winnipeg, Manitoba, and at the annual meeting of the American Ortho - Psychiatric Association held in Chicago. In January, 1969, he addressed the American Association of Colleges on "Problems of the Minority Students on the Campus." At DePaul University he spoke on "The American Political System and the Black Power Movement." Mr. Miller is currently a member of the board of directors, National Catholic Council on Interracial Justice.

The next speaker in the series is Rev. John McCall, S.J. professor of Psychology and Clinical Child Guidance in the Graduate School of Boston College. He will speak at the Christian Formation Center on Sunday, Nov. 8, at 8 p.m. His topic will be "God and Generation Gap." Other speakers in the series will be: Rev. John McKenzie (March 14), Miss Christiane Brusselmanns (March 28) and Rev. Cornelius Van der Poel, CSSP (April 18).

Advance reservation tickets for the entire series of five lectures or for individual lectures may be purchased at the Christian Formation Center. Tickets may also be purchased at the door on the night of the individual lectures. For further information contact the Christian Formation Center.

OAK KNOLL AT ANDOVER

In keeping with Andover's tradition, we have created the beautiful community of Oak-Knoll at Andover. Conveniently located off Highland Road, one mile to Andover Center, just off Route 125 and only a few miles to Route 93 with 30 minutes driving time to Boston.

These homes are of garrison and colonial design containing upwards of 2650 square feet of living space with all modern conveniences for your comfort and leisure. Zoned heat, multiple baths, fireplaces, incinerator, cedar closet, laundry room, automatic garage door operators, intercom system, vacuum cleaning system, smoke, fire detector, and char broiler, all built into a home of quality throughout.

Situated on minimum 3/4 acre and one acre wooded lots, homes are individually sited with consideration given to area unity. Priced from high fifties.

THE AUTHOR. Donald D. Dunn, head of the school physical education department, examines plans for the physical fitness program, now being conducted in the school system as part of the overall plan for a complete public school education.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

So the Curious Citizen checks in with Don Dunn, who joined our school system in 1936, was appointed supervisor of physical education in 1940, and after World War II and the Korean War stints in the Navy, has been athletic director since 1957.

Dunn, who reaches retirement age this year, is full of enthusiasm for the ambitious K-G approach, and said his regret is only that he will have to retire just when this is getting under way.

"It's what the kids need. Every school in the country should be doing this. We should have started this 15 years ago."

"The fundamental priority is developing self-awareness on the part of every child. Early identification of each child's strengths and weaknesses, the child's knowledge of what his strengths and weaknesses are, with the chance to work on his weaknesses will help every child to have a stronger self-image, be more self-confident and competent."

Dunn's staff and other teachers spent last year's Curriculum Days (those half-holidays for children) setting objectives and tentative models for each age level, and developing the Kindergarten - through - Graduation physical education curriculum to help children reach them.

This fall the staff is refining their physical fitness models for the lower grades, using a team approach. Involving classroom teachers, guidance counselors, the school nurse and a reading specialist, they have administered physical fitness tests to all Andover first and second graders.

The team approach is new, and is fundamental to the school department's emphasis on early detection of learning problems in any area, and the suspicion that correlation exists between the physical and more academic areas of learning.

The tests measure physical skills and various kinds of coordination by performance of simple physical activities such as running a given distance in a given time, skipping, jumping, throwing, bouncing and catching a ball, walking a balance beam, also use of sophisticated devices such as the exercor, which measures hand foot and head coordination. The testing cal deficiencies showed up in the child's testing, the schedule for the voluntary classes.

To Dunn, it goes back to the fundamental priority of gaining, and sharing with a child, a knowledge of his strengths and weaknesses for greater self-awareness, then giving the child the help he needs to work on his weaknesses. This year, elementary. Next year the emphasis will be toward development of this program at the secondary school level.

School Superintendent Seifert points out that a school system which yearly brings home league and state championships at the varsity level, yet is developing a system-wide curriculum to help every student approach a reasonable physical fitness model is one that Andover can be proud of.

Elm Square Landmark Succumbs

The last elm tree of Elm Square which was situated in front of the library was taken down on Oct. 2, a victim of Dutch elm disease.

This handsome shade tree was over 100 years old and it has shared a noble place in the history of Memorial Hall Library since the library was built in 1872.

There is an exhibit of some old photographs of the library, some early library publications, a lovely water color of the original building plus souvenirs of the old tree given to the library by the Andover tree department when the workmen had to take down the elm.

Those citizens of Andover who remember the tree when it was young may wish to see the display.

Reappointed

Melvin R. Richard, 463 Lowell Road, has been reappointed as a Notary Public, the office of Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren has announced. Confirmation of the reappointment was made here at a meeting of the Executive Council, following submission of the renomination by the governor.

Secretary Davoren said the term of the Andover Notary Public will expire in 1977.
